Discover the value of your unused assets.

You own equipment that may be too old to use, but too valuable to discard. In addition, disposing of technology equipment properly means making arrangements for resale or recycling. The equipment occupies valuable space and depreciates month after month. If you have this problem, now is the time to take action with the First American Equity Program.

Program Benefits:

- + Put the value of old, unused equipment into new, cutting-edge technology
- + Clear floor space for more productive uses
- + Maintain compliance with disposal regulations
- + Perpetuate practice of environmental responsibility

Do it now.

Your old equipment is losing value, but it could be adding value to your organization in the form of a new equipment lease from First American Equipment Finance.
